

Jack
Witch
Baker's Wife
Baker
Mysterious Man

The Potion

35

Car: WITCH: You bound me. Feed them to the cow.

(The Baker feeds Moby-Moby the first object. Moby goes off to eat. Moby-Moby cheer it out, with greater effort, each time.)

Recitativo (4 = 8th)

(The Baker feeds Moby-Moby the second object. Moby-Moby cheer it out.)

(The Baker feeds Moby-Moby the third object. Moby-Moby cheer it out.)

(All share intensity of Moby-Moby. The Witch pushes a stone gathered for our drink and gives it to the Baker.)

WITCH: Fill that!

BAKER: Going to Moby-Moby? I'll do it. She'll only eat it for me. Squares, pull that milk for friendly. Moby-Moby!

(Witch rolls the golden back; she turns it upside down.)

WITCH: Whooop! Ingredients! Paper! about a child!

BAKER'S WIFE: No, no — you wait one moment!

We followed your instructions.

BAKER'S WIFE:

Oh, that cow is as white as milk, correct?

WITCH: Yes.

BAKER'S WIFE:

And two, the cape was certainly as red as blood.

WITCH: Yes.

BAKER'S WIFE:

And those, the slippers...

WITCH: Yes.

WITCH:

And four, I compared the hair

with this ear of corn.

BAKER'S WIFE:

I pulled it from a rooster in a forest and...

WITCH: YOU? BEHATE!